

A Theology of the Jewish-Christian Reality, Part III, Christ in Context. Lanham/New York/London: University Press of America, 1995

| van Buren, Paul M.

A three-volume, systematic exploration of the implications that emerge within Christianity when the continuing validity of the covenant between God and the Jewish people is acknowledged. Includes theological and Christological considerations, as well as discussion on creation, covenant, election, the people Israel, the land, Torah, and Jesus' relationship to Israel and Torah. Profound.
