The Auschwitz Jewish Center in Oswiecim/Auschwitz was opened in September 2000 and includes the town's only surviving synagogue – Chevra Lomdei Mishnayot – fully restored to its pre-war appearance, as well as a short film, an exhibition on pre-war Jewish life in the town, a genealogy center and a library. With its educational programs, youth dialogue meetings and cultural events, the Center is the only active reminder of the rich Jewish life that once existed in Oswiecim. Website in English and Polish.
