

Cambridge degree program in Jewish-Christian Relations offers scholarships

31.03.2003

The Centre for Jewish-Christian Relations in Cambridge, England, is offering scholarships for full-time MA studies for the academic year 2003-2004.

Cambridge degree program in Jewish-Christian Relations offers scholarships

The Centre for Jewish-Christian Relations in Cambridge, England, is offering scholarships for full-time MA studies for the academic year 2003-2004. The MA degree in Jewish-Christian Relations, validated by Anglia Polytechnic University, is a multi-disciplinary programme. The degree can be taken in preparation for further research, for teaching or community work, or purely for interest's sake. Two scholarships are offered, one covering all course fees, and the other, course fees plus accommodation. The scholarship competition is open to applicants regardless of age, disability, ethnicity, gender, nationality, or religious or political affiliation. Closing date for applications: 1 June 2003. For further information, contact enquiries@cjcr.cam.ac.uk or phone +44 1223 741048.