

Dr Philip A. Cunningham has been appointed ICCJ Honorary President

01.07.2021 | Anette Adelman, ICCJ General Secretary

During the 2021 Annual General Meeting of ICCJ's member organizations, held virtually on June 27, the outgoing ICCJ President Bo Sandahl announced the appointment of Phil Cunningham as ICCJ Honorary President. New Board elected.

Phil Cunningham is one of the leading Catholic scholars and theologians today, with regard to the Christian-Jewish relationship. He has written widely and profoundly on the subject. Recognizing him as a master craftsman with words, the ICCJ has used his talents to craft several important statements, such as the 2009 Berlin Document, "A Time for Recommitment;" "Let Us Have Mercy on Words," a 2010 response to the Palestinian Kairos Document; the 2013 document on the Middle East conflict, called, "As long as you believe in a living God, you must have hope," and many more. The recent book, "Enabling Dialogue on the Land," which was published in 2020, was the product of a research project spearheaded by Phil, called "Promise, Land and Hope."

But it is not only as a man of words that we appreciate Phil's contribution. As Vice-President of the ICCJ from 2008, and then later President from 2014 to 2017, he was involved in designing and carrying out the programs for our international conferences. Two of these conferences reflected his special engagement. The 2015 conference, held in Rome to mark 50 years since the publication of Nostra Aetate, included a special Papal audience with Pope Francis. The following year, in 2016, we held an especially large conference in Philadelphia, on the campus of St. Joseph's University, where Phil is Director of the Institute for Jewish-Catholic Relations. Under his leadership, the University commissioned and erected a modern sculpture called "Synagoga and Ecclesia in our Times," blessed by Pope Francis, as a fitting response to the sea change in Christian-Jewish relations in the 20th and 21st centuries.

Phil has served on the Advisory Committee on Catholic-Jewish Relations for the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops. Active within the US member organization of the ICCJ, the Council of Centers for Christian-Jewish relations, he has served as the webmaster of their Internet resource "Dialogika".

We feel that Phil, in all his work, has been a steady partner and friend for all of us. We would like to show our recognition of all that he has done by appointing him Honorary President of the ICCJ. We hope that he will continue to work with us for many years to come.
