Join us for the First Ever Virtual Open House of the ICCJ

01.05.2021 | ICCJ

What better way of spending a beautiful summer or winter day than enjoying an around the globe and around the clock Open House on Sunday, June 20?

Have you been wondering what the world will look like after we have emerged from this valley of darkness? We assume you have, and that is why you should join the ICCJ-family for the world-wide virtual conference to be held from Sunday, June 20, until Wednesday, June 23, on precisely this question "When All This Is Over, How Do We Want The World To Be Different?"

The grand opening of the Conference is on Sunday, June 20th – a date and a day to be remembered: Our Open House around the globe and around the clock will baffle you with many entertaining and thought-provoking inter-active and multi-media events.

Attend two scholarly webinars on the conference theme, meet a myriad of fascinating people from all around the world, discuss with faith leaders and dialogue practitioners, tune in to a virtual talk show on Women's Voices on the Pandemic, listen to music, and watch videos.

Be invited to participate in a quiz show, to try out and to experience new methods of inter-active and creative Bible and text studies, and let us surprise you by much more in a 14 hours program.

Sunday, June 20,
4 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Coordinated Universal Time (UTC)

Join us! You do not want to miss this unique opportunity of being both in your home and at the same time in Melbourne, Jerusalem, Philadelphia or Stockholm.

A detailed program and information how to get a free day ticket for an unlimited number of visits will be published on the ICCJ website in the middle of May.
