

Jews and Christians: Talking Together

14.03.2003 | Faith and Values Media

A video with accompanying printed guide designed for six discussion sessions.

Jews and Christians: Talking Together

A Video

A video with accompanying printed guide designed for six discussion sessions. Topics covered include "Getting to Know You," "Scripture," "Prayer," "Jesus the Rabbi, Jesus the Christ," "Roots of Antisemitism," and "Building Interfaith Dialogue." The Jewish and Christian leaders featured in the video include Marvin Wilson, author of Our Faith Abraham: Jewish Roots of the Christian Faith; Amy-Jill Levine, Professor of New Testament at Vanderbilt University; Kenneth A. Kanter, rabbi of Congregation Micah, Nashville, Tennessee; Betty Gamble, interfaith staff person for the United Methodist Church, New York City; and Paul D. Lee, director of interreligious affairs for the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Washington, D.C. Further information is available at www.jewsandchristians.org.